

Call for papers
The 4th Winter Conference
The Japanese Association for Migration Studies

In order to increase the academic interchange between association members, the Japanese Association for Migration Studies will be holding its 4th Winter Conference on Saturday, December 7, 2019 at Graduate School of International Development, Nagoya University. The presentation format will be the same as the open-subject style used at the association's Annual Conference. The Winter Conference is particularly designed as an opportunity for younger association members to present their research themes but is not limited to such members. It provides an intimate setting in which to deepen one's research.

If you would like to present a paper, please send an e-mail with the application form to the following application site by Friday, September 27, 2019. However, presenters must be association members, so if you are not a member, please apply for membership in advance. Current members should confirm whether they have paid the membership fee for 2019.

Conference Details

Date: Saturday, December 7, 2019

Location: Graduate School of International Development
Nagoya University (Higashiyama Campus)
Furo-cho, Chikusa-ku, Nagoya
(Nagoya City Subway Meijo Line, Nagoya Daigaku Station)

Format: Individual presentation (25 minutes), following the Annual Conference open-subject format

Application information (no specific format needed):

- (1) Applicant's name, affiliation and e-mail address
- (2) Presentation title
- (3) 300-350 word proposal

Please send the application by email to jamswinter2019@gmail.com

Application deadline: Friday, September 27, 2019

If you have any questions regarding payment of membership fees, please contact the association secretariat at imingakkai@gmail.com